What do jurors find annoying, persuasive, or helpful? What few words seem normal to a trial attorney, but that jurors find untrustworthy? Why do jurors ultimately end up believing one side over another, and rendering a decision in its favor? These questions and many others will be addressed in, "The View from the Jury Box: Lessons Learned from Jury Debriefings." With less cases going to trial, attorneys have fewer opportunities to poll jurors and learn valuable insights. Our speaker Christopher Dominic, President and Senior Consultant of Tsongas Litigation Consulting, will provide trial attorneys insight on how better to appeal to jurors, how to speak in front of a jury, and why jurors make decisions the way they do. The information to be presented has been gathered by Tsongas' national team of jury consultants over the last several decades, and will assist litigators to understand the perspectives and thought-processes of those in the jury box.

Application has been made to the Oregon State Bar for 1 CLE credit.
